Global Scholars Ambassadors

The CRE is honored to announce our 2018 class of Global Scholars Ambassadors. As Global Scholars alumnae, this group has undergone a rigorous application and selection process, and has been selected as student-leaders to mentor fellow FSU undergraduates looking to participate in international service learning. Additionally, with previous experience traveling the world to conduct research that positively impacts our broader, global communities, this group will serve as a valuable asset to our campus and beyond, having the ability to articulate the many benefits of the Global Scholars experience, raising awareness for students of all backgrounds looking to become involved with the program, and garnering attention for those looking to offer support to expand participant engagement.
